

The ISN-ANIO India Committee builds on the expertise of ISN to bridge gaps in healthcare provision for kidney disease across India.

The ISN-ANIO India Committee is a partnership between ISN, the American Nephrologists of Indian Origin (ANIO) and other nephrologists of the Indian diaspora. This Committee uses available funds to support innovative programs aimed at improving kidney care in India. The ISN-ANIO India Committee works in partnership with the Indian Society of Nephrology.

Next deadline for ISN-ANIO Programs submission is May 1, 2017. To get started click here: www.theisn.org/programs/isn-anio-partnership

John Feehally and Ajay Singh
ISN-ANIO India Committee co-Chairs

What are the ISN-ANIO Programs open for applications?

Apprenticeship Program

The Indukaka Ipcowala Advanced Apprenticeship Program has been established by the ISN-ANIO India Committee to enable physicians or allied healthcare personnel from India to gain specific skills by practical experience in any field of nephrology, including but not limited to renal pathology, acute kidney injury, chronic kidney disease, kidney transplantation, dialysis.

Fellowship Program

The Committee supports ISN-ANIO Fellows, young Indian nephrologists who are selected through the ISN Fellowship Program for a period of training overseas.